COMPLIMENTS, COMMENTS AND COMPLAINTS POLICY

1. Policy Statement

Activate Learning is committed to achieving excellence in all aspects of our work and this ambition drives us to continually develop and transform our services. In living our Learning Philosophy, we want students to feel safe, secure, valued and listened to. We want all our stakeholders to feel entirely satisfied with their experience with us and to share their views openly and directly with us, just as they will do with their friends and family.

As an organisation focused on learning, we understand the important role of feedback in the learning process. We value customer feedback and welcome any points that give insight into their experience so we can acknowledge and maintain aspects of our services that are working well and make changes to the areas that don't yet meet our customers' needs.

Our students are empowered to have an active voice in shaping their learning experience and we have proactive and responsive feedback processes that encourage them to develop skills in evaluating and providing feedback effectively. We welcome all feedback from our employer partners.

If a customer feels that the service does not meet their expectations, there are formal, user-friendly and fair procedures for making a complaint. In recognising the potential to turn complainants into advocates, we place great importance on successful and rapid complaint resolution.

2. Purpose

To provide a clear and consistent framework for dealing with feedback, whether a compliment, comment or complaint, so that:

- good practice can be celebrated
- poor experience for a customer can be rectified
- points raised can be monitored, shared and fed into actions to ensure continuous improvement.

3. Scope

This policy covers:

- Compliments, written comments and complaints by all Activate Learning customers. See below for the definition of customer.
- Learner Voice activities including surveys, focus groups, and student representation.
- Complaints relating requests and complaints made against the Corporation, a boardmember or the Clerk to the Corporation, will be handled under the Procedure for Complaints against the Corporation, Board Members and the Clerk.
- Complaints relating to data protection or Freedom of Information will be handled under the Data Protection Complaints Procedure.

If the complaint is about staff conduct, it will be passed across to our Human Resources department. In this case, the person raising the complaint will be advised and reassured that the issue will be investigated to decide the best course of action in line with our internal management procedures. They will not receive an outcome or any further update regarding the complaint. However, HR may make contact to obtain further information.

If the complaint is about a partner organisation, including another provider delivering on behalf of Activate Learning, it may be dealt with under their complaints policy if this is appropriate.

If the complaint is about parking which is overseen by UKPS, the complaint will be dealt with by them via <https://appeal.theukps.com/>.

If the complaint is about an awarding body, the complaint will be directed to the relevant organisation.

If the complaint is best addressed under a different Activate Learning procedure, the complainant will be advised of the procedure they need to follow and how to initiate the next steps

If the complaint relates to assessment and/or examination procedures, this will be dealt with under the relevant Academic Appeals procedure.

If the complaint relates to matters which have or are currently being considered by the Office of the Independent Adjudicator for Higher Education (OIAHE) or another external organisation, this will be dealt with under their procedure.

4. Definitions

A frivolous complaint has no serious purpose or value. It may have little merit and be trivial.

A vexatious complaint is one where it is apparent that the complainant is making a complaint without any merit for the purpose of causing inconvenience, harassment or expense. Vexatious complaints may trigger a disciplinary process.

We reserve the right not to investigate frivolous or vexatious complaints.

6. Policy Commitments

Customers are able to provide feedback via a feedback form on the Activate Learning website, by emailing/writing or speaking to us directly, or by participating in one of our surveys, focus groups or feedback forums. Where we don't have enough information to respond, we will contact customers for further details.

Receiving feedback is an important part of our Learning Philosophy led culture of learning from failure. We welcome all feedback and keep a central log of all compliments, comments and complaints to enable us to regularly review patterns and trends within comments and complaints received and use this information to continually improve our service.→

We will share and celebrate compliments and praise the relevant team members.

Students may appoint a representative to submit a complaint or appeal on their behalf. They should request a representative at the time of submitting a complaint, explaining why they need a representative, providing the name and contact details of who will represent them, and giving permission for Activate Learning to discuss all matters relating to the complaint with the representative.

If Activate Learning gives permission for a representative to handle the complaint on behalf of the student, we will normally correspond only with the representative about the complaint after that. We will usually accept information only via the representative and not from the student directly.

Students submitting a collective complaint should explain how each party has been affected by the situation. The investigator may ask for one nominated individual to act as a representative for the group.

Students with Learning Difficulties or Mental Health issues may have support, advice and guidance to engage effectively with the complaints procedures if they would benefit from this, upon request.

All complaints will be

- Handled in a fair, confidential, and sensitive way according to a set procedure and timescale.
- Responded to within five working days in the attempt to find a prompt resolution, and where no immediate solution is available, formally investigated by a relevant manager.
- Processed if the complaint is made within one month of the incident giving rise to the complaint, unless there is a reasonable reason for a delay, or if the complaint is now within the scope of this policy.
- Considered resolved and no further action necessary if we have had no further correspondence within 10 working days of the resolution letter being issued.
- Investigated objectively and result in outcomes that are fair and consistent as they go through an internal verification process.
- Reported on at team and group level where actions for improvement are agreed and tracked.
- Fed into an appeal process if the customer thinks the issue was not dealt with or the process was not followed in a fair and objective way.
- Considered on its own merits. We reserve the right not to pursue a full investigation if we deem the complaint to be frivolous or vexatious.
- Considered resolved and no further action necessary if we have requested further information from the complainant and do not receive a reply within 5 workingdays of the request.
